

Because of their role in the manufacturing and sales and marketing processes, it is important to know which employee manages which product category (and, thereby, which product models).

